NOTES OF THE WEEK.

CLOSE OF OARC COLLEGE.-The report of the Examining Committee of the above institution is all that geed be said regarding the examination. At its close, on the second day, a few remarks were made which will be interesting to those who were not present Mr. Lyman, as Chairman of the Committee, remarked that, although he had been accustomed to attend examinations for twenty years, his interest did not diminish. He spoke of the practical character of the institution. Classes, when examined, showed that they were as ready to answer questions asked by the spectators as readily as by their teachers, which ined that the training was thorough.

His Excellency M. de Varigny, a member of the Board of Education, and a graduate of the University of Paris, followed, and remarked in substance as

My Young FRIENDS :- The pleasure with which I have attended the examination during the past two days, is my apol-ogy for detaining you a little longer. I have listened atten-tively to your answers, and have noticed with interest, in them as well as in your written compositions, the spread of that sound and practical knowledge, on which, as on a precious store, you highest sense of the word—because on it rests the only true in-dependence of life and thought. From our peac-ful island home we see the whole world in a turmoil or excitement and war; men who are rich to-day, are poor to-morrow. Let us understand that great lesson that men and women must rest their chances of the future on a firmer foundation than mere external appearances,-that sound practical knowledge, assisted by honest religious principles, is the only sure basis of success. To the love ingous principles, is the only sure basis of success. To the love and kindness of your parents, to the faithful devotion of your bachers, you are indebted for these benefits. Whatever be the cause which God, in his infinite mercy, may true out for you, never lose sight. In the infinite mercy, may true out for you, never lose sight. In the education you have received, it say of to-morrows that the education you have received, it says for far you to saminate among others; that the light of knowledge and civilization, like that arch which the young Remans used to hand from one to another in their races of old, has to pass from you to others; and that it is your duty to keep its flame pure, and its light bright, on the paths over which you travel. To your teachers and to you, allow me to return thacks in my own name and in that of those who, unable to be present to-day, follow you with anxious eyes, a your earnest present to-day, follow you with anxious eyes, 22 your earnest endeavors, in your quiet and peaceful triumply

Rev. Mr. Damon then made a shore address, and said: It afforded him pleasure to be present at the annual examination of the College. hir. Lyman had made an allusion to one subject, upon a hich he would add a few words. Our esteemed President and his wife are expecting to retire from this institution. The services have proved invaluable. Some years ago the English lost one of their Averic discovery ships in the cold regions of Greenland. The vessel was found adrift and brought to New Landon by American whalemen. It was then purchased by the American Government and sent to England. was made over, Queen Victoria remarked to the captain, "I think you." He felt that we have more occasion to thank Mr. and Mrs. Mills, as they retire from this institution. Then turning to the President and his lady, Mr. D. said, " In the name of the Trustees. I thank you; in the name of the parents of these pupils, I thank you; and in the name of the pupils, I thank you." Pointing to the motto "Our cupils, God bless then," which hung over the stage, he added, that he felt that the bissing of the President and his wife would follow those who have been under their instruction. Turning to the month "Absent friends will be true ones," at the opposite side of the ross, he said he felt that they would prove t-ue friends to this institution, wherever their lot might be cast. Their aid and the said of the graduates, so many of whom was ar gent, were needed by the instruction. By mutual co-operation, no hoped this College would continue to advance in that cancer of usefulness which it has pursued during the past score of years.

OSEOLOGY .- Messrs. Fowler & Well, of New ork, have lately published a book with the above itle, giving full descriptions of the vactous kinds and shapes of noses, and how to judge of a man's character by the form of the nose. Dr. &m. Hillebrand of the Queen's Hospital has lately performed an operation which constitutes an advance in surgery, and to which the above firm will have to devote a separate chapter in the next edition of their book. The facts are these : A Chinaman went in the nospital, ed a new one put on, the ayar's forehead a size and shape for a nose, a new more with it. The piece nat it would bave open nostrils, man has an artificial nose, which could ed as such, except on clock inspection. The sead was stretched and sewell together, so that n of is now hardly noticeable. This is one of the able surgical operations we have ever noticed, remarkable mainly for ingenuity and successful result.

ENGLAND AND THE "SO-CALLED CONFEDERACY."-In the San Francisco Bulletin of the 11th June, there is published a correspondence between Earl Russell and Jeff. Davis, regarding the fitting out of rams in Eugland, in which the noble Earl protests against the purchase of any war vessels in England by the "so-called Confederate States." The reply of Jeff. Davis is as spunky a piece of official correspondence as we have seen lately in print. The same paper contains unusually full and interesting accounts of the Virginis in May, and also a bill of fare of a 4th of July Luau in Honolulu, said to have been sent to San Francisco for publica-tion. It is of course a burlesque.

THE SMALL-POX AT THE MARQUESAS .- By way of San Francisco, we learn that the s nall-pox continued te spread through the Marquesas, and had extended to the Society I lands. In the latter over 200 deaths had occurred. On the island of Uapou, in the Marquesan group, all the inhabitants of the valley in which the Hawaiian missionary Kauwealoha was stationed, are said to have been swept off, and fears are entertained that he and his family have not escaped its ravages. The total deatrs on the group were 900, and the plague continued to spread. It is well for our authorities to be on the alert, and keep a good stopply of fresh vaccine matter, and also watch all vessels coming to these islands from the South Pacific, as the small-pox is now ravaging the Fiji and other groups, besides those mentioned. With the Chinese leptosy extending rapidly among the people, and threstening soon to decimate them, we should guard against the re-introduction of the small-pox.

The Smyrniote is the first vessel that we look for with a mail. She probably sailed on the 18th, and is therefore seven days out to-day. She ought to make a flying trip down, and arrive during next the same time, and some may touch here.

Don't Forget the Wounded Soldiers.

The battles fought in Virginia and Georgia during the month of May, have left over 80,000 wounded soldiers, for whose relief and care the National Sanitary Commission provides so far as its funds allow. The Government does all it can for its soldiers, but when the Sanitary Commission is able to take the wounded and sick and provide for them better, it is allowed to do so, and it is doing a great service-How it is done, the reader can learn from an article on the next page, copied from a Sanitary Fair paper. What can be more appropriate than for Americans, on the coming anniversary, to lay on the altar of their country generous gifts to relieve their brethren and kinsmen, wounded and disabled in the great struggle now in progress. What purer patriotism or more Christian charity than to minister to their wants? Five thousand dollars have already been sent; let another five thousand be added to it. Let Americans here contribute freely and liberally for this object. We have been furnished with the following report of the condition of the fund of the

Since the above was prepared the following appeal has been made to the patriotism and liberality of Americans resident on the Sandwich Islands.

U. S. Sanitary Commission. WHEREAS: Spontaneous offerings are pouring from every clime to swell this beneficient resevoir of human kindness, from which flow life-giving streams of comfort and consolation to the wounded and dying on the battle fields of Freedom and Loyalty : It is now proposed, that from these islands, another offering should be laid upon the altar of Heaven born charity, another tribute be paid to valor and patriotism. The co-operation of all loyal hearts is requested to aid in this effort, and an opportunity is now given to all to help bear the burdens which rest upon our beloved country.

Burdick, and Lewis & Norton,) stencil plate free,

Contributions of molasses, sugar, tamarinds, (put up '- sugar in kegs or barrels,) arrow root, jellies, &c., &c., are respectfully solicited, and will be forwarded by Messrs. Wilcox, Richards & Co., freight free to San Francisco, to consignment of Rev. H. W. Bellows, President U. S. Sanitary Commission.

AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE -A meeting of Americans was held on Wednesday last, to take measures to celebrate the coming " Fourth" in an appropriate manner. His Excellency the America n Minister presided, and the best of feeling prevailed. After full discussion of the subject, a committee of seven was appointed, consisting of Wm. A. Aldrich, D. C. Waterman, Capt. Wilcox, Daniel Foster, C. S. Bartow, C. E. Williams and J. B. Atherton, with full power to fix on a programme and carry out such arrangements as they might deem best. We understand that the committee have selected the premises of Capt. Babcock (formerly known as the American Club premises,) and the order of proceedings will be found in another columns.

- Besides the above, James I. Dowsett, Esq. with that patriotic sympathy and liberality, for which he is noted, has invited all the mechanics of Honolulu, to partake of a feast or luau, to be provided at his expense at Moanalua on the 4th of July.

THE STRANER appears to be particularly unfortunate, having again been compelled to return to port before accomplishing her voyage. The trouble on this occasion was some obstruction of the pump by which the boilers are supplied with water. The difficulty is easily remedied, and she will leave again for Lahaina, and Kona, Hawau, on Monday the 27th.

Further returns show the election on Kauai to have resulted in the choice of Hon. V. Knudsen, for Waimea; Judge Wana, for Hanalei ; and Pius F. Koakanu, for Koloa and Nawiliwili.

THE RISE IN GOLD .- How IT IS DONE .- A Philadelphia correspondent of a recent date writes: The recent great advance and tumble in gold, and consequent excitement at the Stock Exchange of this and other cities, was long since telegraphed to your city; but I doubt if you have been favored with a statement of the cause of the advance and subsequent panic. Hence, I will give it, prefacing my expose with the remark that the parties engaged in the "operation" are well known, and that their "scheme" is susceptible of the clearest proof. Ten of our Third street speculators bought, early on the morning of the 14th, all the gold they could get hold of, paying an average rate of 791 per cent. premium. At about 10 o'clock, as per previous agreement, they simultaneously telegraphed to their ten correspondents in New York to purchase fifty thousand dollars of gold, ($500,000,) without limit as to price, but limiting the time to ten minutes after receipt of instructions. The effect was instantaneous. The ten correspondents in the New York market, each eager to obey instructions, and earn a handsome commission, without limit as to price, and all bidding against each other, were unable to purchase any amount in gold, but the price, of course, went up like a rocket, and only stopped when 90 per cent. premium was reached. So far the scheme had worked to a charm. And now commenced the other part of the programme. Our Third street operators sold out all the gold they had purchased in the morning at a splendid profit, (86 premium,) and instantly sold "short" enormous amounts of gold, ranging at prices from 84 to 88 premium, deliverable in 48 hours, knowing that when the market was relieved of their " bull" operations gold would fall much below these figures. It did fall, and they were able to "deliver" at not far from 71 premium. They also sold short large amounts of gold in New York, through "private parties." The net amount realized by these Third street manipulators was just about $100,000 in all.

Further Extracts of Foreign News.

On our fourth page we insert the news received by the Antonia and Fleetwing, and below will be found further extracts from the papers at hand

The following are the Resolutions passed at the Republican Convention at Baltimore: Mr. Raymond, from the Committee on Resolutions, reported the following : Resolved. That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain, against all their enemies, the integrity of the Union and the paramount authority of the Constitution of the United States; and that, laying aside all differences of public opinions, we pledge ourselves as Union men, animated by a common sentiment, and aiming at a common object, to do everything in our power to aid the Government in quelling by force the armed rebellion. Resolved. That we approve the determination of the United States not to compromise with the rebels, or to offer any terms of peace except such as may be based upon an unconditional surrender, and cessation of their hostilities, and return to their just allegiance to the Constitution and laws of the United States ; and that we call upon the Government to maintain this position, and to prosecute the war with the utmost possible vigor, to the complete suppression of the rebellion, in full reliance upon the self-sacrifices, patriotism, heroic valor and undying devotion of the American people to their country and its free institu-

Resolved. That as slavery was the cause and now constitutes the strength of this rebellion, and must be always and everywhere hostile to the principles of a republican government, justice and national safety demand its complete extirpation from the soil of the Republic; and that we uphold and maintain the acts and proclamations by which the Government, in its own defence, has simed a death-blow at this gigantic evil. We are in favor, furthermore, of such amendments to the Constitution-to be made by the people, in conformity with its provisions-as shall terminate and forever prohibit the existence of slavery within the limits or jurisdiction of the United States.

The next resolution thanks soldiers and sailors of the army and navy for their gallant and heroic achievements in the defence of the country. The following resolution approves the practical wisdom and unselfish patriotism of Abraham Lincoln; endorses as essential to the preservation of the nation, and the Constitution, the measures and acts by which he has defended the nation against open or secret foes; approves especially of the Emancipation Proclamation, and the employment as Union soldiers of men heretofore held in slavery. Resolved, That Government owes to all men employed in the army, without regard to color, the full protection of the laws of war, and that any violations of those laws by the rebels should be made the subject of full and prompt redress. The next resolution favors fostering and encouraging foreign immigration. Resolved, That we are in favor of the speedy construction of a Railroad to the Pacific. Resolved, That the National faith, pledged for the redemption of the public debt, must be kept inviolate, and for this purpose recommend economy and rigid responsibility in public expenditures, a vigorous but just system of taxation; and that it is the duty of every loyal State to sustain the credit and promote the use of the National currency. Resolved, That we approve of the position taken by the Government, that the people of the United States can never regard with indifference the attempt of any European power to overthrow by force, or supplant by fraud, the institutions of any republican government on the western continent; and that they will view with extreme jealousy, as menacing to the peace and independence of its own country, the efforts of any such power to obtain a foothold for monarchical Governments, sustained by a foreign military force, in near proximity to the United States.

The Nominations in San Francisco. The following from the Alta, shows how the nomination of Lincoln and Johnson was received in San Francisco: The lightning had scarcely flashed across the Continent the tidings of the renomination of ABRAHAM LINCOLN for the Presidency, than the entire city was and County of San Francisco was to all appearances draped with the ensign of our beloved country, and congratulations passed that the Convention should have acted with such unanimity. California's choice is now the accepted candidate for the Presidency the ensuing term, and although California had named one of her sons for the Vice Presidency, she accepts the true patriot, Andy Johnson of Tennessee, to be the associate of the present able head of our Government. The renomination of Mr. Lincoln sent a thrill of satisfaction throughout the entire community, as it is equivalent to an election. He co nes before the world, not as a candidate of any particular political party, but the unanimous choice of all true and loyal men irrespective of previous political views. It was his destiny to meet an emergency which seldom is allotted to man; he has done his duty as faithfully as man can. If he has erred, it has been from a desire to accomplish the most good in the shortest space of time, and circumstances, such as have surrounded him, tend to pervert even the wisest judgment. The history of the world cannot furnish a parallel to the crisis which has beset us nationally. From a nation of men following the vocations of peace, we have been forced into a military people ; from a nationality based upon peace principles, we have been forced into a martial power greater than the world has ever witnessed; and we now command, by superior force, improved arms and munitions of war-by land and sea-the proud position of the greatest power on earth. The emergencies of war develop the resources and talent of a nation. We have, under the guidance of Abraham Lincoln, maintained our position for tour years. We have combated a rebellion covering an area of territory, and embracing more talent than has ever before raised an antagonistic front, and yet our march is still onward.

The Reception of the News.

At an early hour of the morning the glad tidings of the renomination of Abraham Lincoln by acclamation was received by telegraph, and immediately spread upon the Bulletin boards of the Aita and its ontemporaries. The news spread over the whole city in half an hour, and in spite of the fact that no one had doubted the issue of the deliberations of the Convention for a moment, the result being looked upon from the outset as a foregone conclusion, the enthusiasm of the loyal masses was unbounded, and the joy everywhere manifested second only to that which would thrill California through her utmost limits on the announcement of the fall of the Capital of the thrice accursed traitor Confederacy. In half an hour the whole city was one rippling sea of bunting, every public building, hotel and engine house displaying the Stars and Stripes, while from all the principal stores and private residences "Old Glory" floated on the air. The shipping in the harbor was also decorated in the same manner, and the whole town was in a tumult of enthusiasm. Bluxome's Battery commenced firing one hundred guns at half past twelve, and with the first gun the bell of Engine Company, No. 6, (Monumental) commenced ringing a joyous peal. The boys of No. 4, with their new engine, a band of music, and invited guests, were passing in procession through the streets, and the ringing of the bells, and the cheers as they passed from point to point, literally "keeping ste music of the Union," added to the excitement of the hour. The Circus band was also out playing the "Star Spangled Banner," "His Soul Goes Marching On," "Union, Right or Wrong," "Yankee Doodle," and other patriotic and soul-stirring airs. As evening approached, lines of variegated lanterns were hung across Montgomery street at different points; banners without number were suspended over the great thoroughfare; materials for bonfires were gathered at the street corners, and on every hand preparations for the evening's celebration were visible. As the daylight passed, bonfires were kindled in all parts of the city, the red glare of ascending rockets lighted up the heavens at frequent intervals, and almost the entire population of San Francisco poured forth into the streets. Montgomery street was black with humanity from Telegraph Hill to Market street, and, singularly enough, as it would seem to a stranger, there appeared to be no division of sentiment; no one shouted for McClellan; no one montioned the name of the "Pathfinder of Empire," save in derison; it was " Lincoln, Johnson, and the Union" on every hand. FOR VICE-PRESIDENT, ANDREW JOHNSON OF TENNESsee .- Andy Johnson, Vice-President-fair match for Abraham Lincoln, President Johnson is peculiarly one of the people. He was born at Raleigh, North Catolina, in 1808, lost his father at four years of age, at ten was apprenticed to a tailor, and at seventeen he set up for himself in that business. He learned the alphabet on the tailor's board, and diligently employed his evenings, after his work was done, in learning to read. To write and cipher he learned after marriage from his wife -in this respect repeating the experience of many enterprising Southern youth unblessed with the advantages that wealthy parentage confers. Under the tutilage of his wife he made rapid improvement. In 1826 he removed to Tennessee, taking up his residence at Greenville, and the good people of the village elected him first Alderman, afterwards Mayor, and then member of the Legislature. In 1840 he was chosen one of the Democratic Electors of the State. In 1841 he went to the State Senate; in 1843 to Congress, and stayed there till 1853, when he was elected Governor of Tennessee, in and 1855 re-elected to the same high place. In 1857 he was sent to the United States Senate for the full term of six years. When State after State seceded, Johnson girded himself to save Tennessee from the folly. Throughout the war he has been a bulwark for the Union. When country or slavery, one or the other, was to be sacrificed, be urged that there could be no hesitation on such a question, and went in for the abolition of slavery and for every means to save the Union. His influence more than that of any other border State man saved the border States to the side of liberty, loyalty and the Constitution. His nomination strengthens the ticket, and increases the assurance that Lincoln will be easily re-elected .- Bulletin.

Abraham Lincoln Renominated. The renomination of Abraham Lincoln for Presi dent of the United States surprises no one, and gratifies, we suspect, the entire mass of Union-loving men in San Francisco. There possibly may be in town men of unquestionable loyalty who would have preferred Chase to Lincoln-there may be some such who mean to vote for Fremont. But, if there are, we have not met them. The unanimous sentiment of the people of this city seems to be that the Convention could not possibly have served the country better than by placing in nomination for another term the honest man, who for over three years has so ably represented the true progressive sentiment of the nation at the White House. Mr. Lincoln's renomination is presumed equivalent to a re-election. Now that it is settled that either he or a Copperhead must be President, the elements of opposition to him from within professedly Union ranks will retreat into obscurity. There are not sore heads enough among Union men to constitute any serious obstacle to his triumphant re-election. There are not enough willing to sacrifice themselves to their own malice to diminish much the legitimate Union vote, and certainly the number who can be duped by Fremont's screech for economy, (as if one of the worst blunders of the Administration were not the permission granted all too long to Fremont to waste the public funds,) cannot be at all considerable. The South went into this suicidal rebellion with the full expectation that their allies at the North would be able so to divide and revolutionize public sentiment that at the Presidential election they could dictate terms for a compromise. The renomination and re-election of Lincoln will satisfy the South that they need expect no more favorable terms than the Amnesty Proclamation en braces, and that unconditional surrender alone can bring them peace. Abroad, the effect will be equally positive. If ever our system of quadrennial elections would develope its incompetency it should be when we are engaged in a civil war; but here we renominate, and probably shall re-elect, our President in the midst of war with even less excitement or distraction from our usual affairs than when the task reverts in time of peace. Foreign nations are notified that the North, East and West are united for the war, and will not be turned from its presecution until its object is attained. No one victory that our arms have achieved is more worthy to be honored with the explosion of gunpowder, the display of flags and banners than this. It signifies that the policy of the past is to continuethat the same thorough uncompromising pressure upon the enemy with Grant's army in Virginia and Sherman's in Georgia are bringing to bear upon the vitals of the rebellion is to continue until there is no enemy left within our borders. It signifies that the people are satisfied with the Administration and endorse its measures, and that is a lesson that foes and neutrals clike need to hear read clearly and distinctly. For its effect at home, abroad, at the North and in the South, the re-nomination of Mr. Lincoln, an honest, just, liberty-loving, common-sense possessing, God-fearing man, is matter of devout thanksing to Heaven - Bulletin.

PRICES OF EATING IN NEW YORK .- The New York Tribune says the proprietors of all the down-town restaurants and eating-houses have been obliged to raise their prices, and commplate increasing them still further, on all meats, vegetables, and pastry. The first advance was made by restaurant keepers in adding five cents to the price of many of their dishes, and charging ten instead of six cems for a piece of pie. The eating-house keepers whose establishments, on account of their cheapness are exclusively patronized all day long, have held out for a long time, but are now compelled to ask an advance, or lose maney. On account of the high price of beef, sirloin and ten. derloin steaks, which heretofore were charged at fifteen and twenty-five cents, have been advanced to thirty and forty cents. Wheat cakes, for which the demand was very great, have been raised from five to ten cents-the advance being made, not so much on account of the increased price of flour, as the rise in butter and molasses. In many of these establishments, butter, which has always been placed in the most lavish manner upon the tables, has now been entirely removed. Recently, only one piece of bread has accompanied a ten cent dish, but even with this curtailment the proprietors find that they are losing money and contemplate raising their ten cent list to fifteen cents. On all dishes to order advances of five and ten cents have been made. Pies, puddings, coffee and tea will also be raised from five to ten cents. The advance that has thus far been made does not seem to have met with any prrticular disfavor, as all of these places are still crowded at the usual hours of breakfast, dinner, and tea.

European.

SANDY HOOK, June 6 .- The Virginia, with dates from Liverpool to May 24th and from Queenstown to 25th has arrived.

The news from America created a great sensation, and was generally regarded in Europe as disastrous to the rebel cause.

The rebel loan declined from 5@6 per cent. Laird's rams have been purchased by the British

The Duke of Malakoff is dead.

The news of the battles in Virginia caused a profound sensation, and people were astonished at the magnitude of the losses. Some papers think Grant has been defeated in his object of advancing on Richmond Richmond, while others think the battles have been indecisive, and that the Federals have paid too dearly for their victory, if any.

The pirate Georgia was announced for sale at Liverpool by a private party. Her crew had been paid off and her stores sold at auction.

The London Times thinks that if Grant captures Richmond the rebel cause is not lost and that its downfall [Richmond] will be at a great loss of life
